

Tuesday eve

Dearest little wife - I love you, very, very, much.

Am going to chop in on uncle tomorrow afternoon. Am going to tell him a few things.

Today uncle said, "Oh
I have some news! Noble's cook's son says Ted has been married since last fall -" Mother told him she didn't believe a word of it - and she says she didn't tell him in a nice way either - and he said nothing more.

I don't feel like writing tonight - my dear honey girl -

I have had a terrific headache all afternoon and eve.
Must go to bed - feel like the devil - but I'll be O.K. tomorrow.

Mother says she may go this week -

End - to Corydon - i. e.

See Sunday - could you come up then - thank you?

I miss you, terribly, dear-terribly - and I love you so so so so much -

Your lover
Jed -
